

FARM BUREAUS HELP MARKET • LIVESTOCK

The American Farm Bureau Federation is making the same effort to protect its livestock growers as its grain growers. A plan has now been launched for a cooperative livestock commission operated by livestock producers throughout the middle and southwest. Nebraska, Illinois and Minnesota are already operating. Plans are now underway for Missouri, Colorado and Texas. The upper picture shows baby beavers raised by girl and boy calf clubs and sacrificed early to the market, as it does not pay to fatten them. Lower picture shows Western Herfords in pen at Chicago to be marketed by the cooperative commissioners in the effort to reduce the margin between animals on the hoof and the price paid for meat by the consumer.

Law and Order of State Challenged Says Gov.

"The bootlegger and moonshiner and those allied with them, today challenge law and order in Kentucky. The impudent, brazen and determined violation of this law is rapidly bringing into contempt all law; is weakening public authority and lessening the confidence of the people of Kentucky in their laws; their courts and their public officials," is the opinion expressed by Governor Morrow in letters sent to the 120 county attorneys and sheriffs and the chief of police of the cities of this state.

In the letters Governor Morrow said:

"As one of the chief law enforcing agents of your county, and as a fellow public servant chargeable also with the enforcement of the laws of the commonwealth, I write you concerning the present shameful violation of the prohibition law in Kentucky.

"I believe in the high integrity; in the capacity and courage of the state's law enforcing agents, and I feel that you will be glad to lend every power of your energy and your office to the suppression of this outbreak of lawlessness.

"In the enforcement of this law I believe you will have the support of the right-thinking men and women of Kentucky. I believe that a quickened and aroused public sentiment will rally to your assistance.

"We can and we must accept the challenge so flauntingly offered, and having accepted it, we must re-establish the supremacy of the laws of the land."

In connection with this letter the governor issued a proclamation calling upon the people of the state to co-operate and to throw their irresistible power upon the side of law, order and decency.

"The will of the people of Kentucky," he said, "must and shall be made superior to the purposes of an outlawed traffic. The power of the bootlegger and the moonshiner must be made to bend before the authority of the sovereign law of the commonwealth."

The proclamation, preceded by the customary greetings, says:

"The strength of any state is determined by the courage and character of its citizenship. Today the power of the state to enforce law and maintain order in brazenly, notoriously and impudently challenged by the scandalous and open violation of the prohibition law. The moonshiner and bootlegger, and those allied with them are determined to make their will superior to the law of the people of the state.

"The open violation of the prohibition law brings to Kentucky and its people not only the known evil of intemperance, but there has come with it, through it, and as a part of it, the intimidation of men and women, threats of violence against all who oppose it, perjury and subordination of perjury, and past experience of the country shows that those engaged in this business do not balk even at debauchery of public officials charged with the enforcement of the law.

"This law-breaking power strikes at the source of all public authority. Confronted with this situation, I call to the conscience of the commonwealth. I appeal to every law-enforcing officer to stand by the law of his state and to exert the utmost energy and determination in its execution and enforcement.

"I call upon the people of Kentucky—upon its men and women—upon the leaders of thought and conduct—to unite; to co-operate and to throw their irresistible power upon the side of law, order and decency.

"The will of the people of Kentucky must, and shall, be made superior to the purposes of an outlawed traffic. The power of the bootlegger and the moonshiner must be bent before the authority of the sovereign law of the commonwealth."
